

With the Schiwa Analyzer, you can keep an eye on the functions and performance of your Schiwa lines. Production data for a single line or several Schiwa lines can be read out as required and documented. You can request information according to product, function and time and save it based on your specifications. You have access to all your comparative data at all times.

Examples of application:

- Capacity of a line per period or shift
- Production periods and servicing times
- Loaf and portion analyses
